As Gary completes his six year term on the MOAA National BOD, he shared some of his insights on MOAA and its members. MOAA is a passionate and credible voice for military officers with over 387,000 members nationwide; it is one of the top 50 advocacy groups on Capitol Hill and local Chapters are at the heart and soul of the organization. While Gary has worked with national MOAA on some of the biggest issues currently facing the military and its veterans - TriCare for Life, addressing and working to improve the Veterans Administration, protecting military pay and benefits, making sure Congress is aware and working on military issues during the annual "Storming of the Hill" – he stressed the importance of each Chapter member and the impact they have on the overall effectiveness of MOAA. He urges all of us to sign up for the weekly MOAA legislative updates and to follow the action instructions; grassroots action on pending issues get results and make MOAA "one powerful voice".
